

Task 4.3)

There is nothing guarding between using different routes. For state, The current transportation method depends on factors such as money and satiety, transitioning between them if specific factors are met such as lack of funds. They are not interchangeable the State design pattern guards against state transitions that shouldn't happen due to criteria not being met.